Last Chaos Features

- ✔ Multiple character classes

- ✔ Contains many groups and options for social interaction

Last Chaos offers Numerous Character Classes

One of the main draws of Last Chaos is the number and variety of classes that can be played. Right now, there are six classes in all, including the Knight, Healer, Mage, Rogue, Titan, and Sorcerer. Three classes are male characters, and the other three are female. Each class then has two jobs to choose from and two different weapon choices, allowing players to customize their character even more. Each class also features a completely different back story, so players can experience every aspect of the game's story by creating multiple characters.

Last Chaos Pet Options

In Last Chaos, people can choose to go on a special quest to get a pet. A pet is a steady companion that will follow the character wherever they go. Other just being a companion to the character, they can be used as either a mount to ride or as a combat assistant. Currently, there are four in-game pets that can be obtained, including a horse and a dragon, which are both mounts, and the Ichi and Scra-chi, which are combat pets. As opposed to many other MMORPG's, you can get all these pets, rather than just having to choose one.

The Innovative Socket System

As with any MMORPG, the gear a character uses is very important. It will determine how much damage they can do as well as how protected they are from enemy attacks. In Last Chaos, players can upgrade their existing gear with the socket system. By adding sockets to a weapon or piece of armor, they can they upgrade the stats with jewels. Different jewels have different bonuses, so a player can customize their gear with things like increased power, increased MP, increased speed, increased hit rate, and more.

Guilds and Parties

A MMORPG is more fun to play with friends or other players. Last Chaos features many social options for gamers through different party types for playing together for a short period of time, and guilds where players can always be a part of a group of other gamers. The three different party types in Last Chaos include an Equal Party, a Precedence Party, and a Combat Party. Each party has different qualities and level restrictions. Guilds allow players to take part in certain guild events. There are no requirements to join a guild, but there are restrictions on starting your own guild.
